But as far as they are from the cinema city, the Japs are even farther-about 20 years or so. You can ask the 32nd Division's Reconnaisance Troop for particulars. Recently a small patrol led by S/Sgt. Lester A. Carlson, of Sheffield, stumbled onto what they dehas this to say of his first contact scribed later as a trooper's dream -a Jap camp guarded only by three men The trio quickly joined their ancestors, then men had a field day. Huts, field seen a Yank before. One might say we were the ilberators in these were destroyed or rendered unserviceable. A variety of souvenirs was collected, but the prized find of all was an American movie

The cavalrymen gleefully saw the Jap force return to their ravaged campsite. The Nips took one look and became profane in Japanese, waving their hands about n despair. Still moaning their lossea, they took off to their rear

Back at its base, the patrol passed the word that a very specal U. S. movie, captured from the Japs, would soon be shown. Premer tickets were sold out. Then tragedy struck. The film turned out to be so battered and ancient it could not be shown. And the star? Even after 20 years, the name's still familiar. It's Charlie

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT

"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

For the third time in the country's long search for peace-for the second time with tremendous world effect-a great American leader has been stricken in the very critical time of all his efforts.

We know now that had Woodrow Wilson retained his health, and Abraham Lincoln his life, and had they been able to outweigh their opponents, the history of America and the world would have been far different.

Only with the passing of time will we know the effect of Franklin Roosevelt's death at the same Warm Springs where he once regained full use of the life which was to have such a terrific impact on people

While President Roosevelt had been even more the commander-in-chief than other war presidents, and while his personal consultations with our allies on military affairs had been all-important, there is consolation on this point. The war with Germany is all but over. Plans for the completion of the war against Japan are so far advanced as to make the need for large-scale revision very unlikely. The fitting or non-fitting of Russia into the Japanese campaign is the only remaining military imponderable. And either way, the effect in that quarter will be principally on the time and strength required for victory, rather than in the disposition of British and American forces. Like Wilson and Lincoln, Franklin Roosevelt had passed his war crisis. The crisis he faced was peace. Not only victory over present armed enemies, but over the issues which make wars, was the goal he had pursued from the beginning. He did it with all the power and hope of the United States behind him, and even his bitterest political opponents seldom felt competent to go to the mat with him on his international intentions. But his very personality meant that his relations with Joseph Stalin, Winston Churchill and other world leaders-yes, with Charles De Gaulle-took on a peculiarly personal color. Perhaps, dealing with such personalities, there could have been no other successful relationship. But it leaves us wondering as to the future, knowing that we have lost a leader who had been strangely sensitive to and moulded by 12 years of international crises, both military and economic.

ONLY A FOOT FROM TROUBLE

To conserve the fast disappearing supply of passenger cars and to reduce accidents, police and sheriffs throughout the United States and law enforcement agencies of Canada are conducting a brake-check program from April 15 to June 1.

Since brakes, good or bad, come into play in nearly all traffic accidents, police believe the program will materially reduce losses of cars, lives and limbs. Careless maintenance and bad brakes are major factors in the scrapping of passenger cars, now proceeding at the alarming rate of 4,000 vehicles per day.

The brake-check program is sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The Erie Times is 57 years of age, having celebrated its birthday yesterday. The Times is one of the outstanding publications in this section and is ably edited and a power in its community. An interesting sidelight is that Joseph Kelly, who conducted the old Warren Paragraph, went to Erie and with John Mead and two others founded the Times. Mr. Mead finally took over all of the interests of the others and the paper today is conducted by members of the Mead family.

With flags at half-mast, business houses and offices closed, and plans for memorial services under way, Warren, with other communities in the nation and people throughout the world, joins in the sorrow and despair that is felt everywhere over the passing of the great Commander-in-Chief. This week there is a greater incentive than ever before to attend your church

If you want points to go down on canned vegetables, simply grow all you need in your own garden.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

If those ordinances depart from before me, saith the Lord, then the seed of Israel also shall cease from being a nation before me for ever .- Jeremiah 31:36.

Just laws are no restraint upon the freedom of the good, for the good man desires nothing which a just law will interfere with.

Blessed Eventing

VFW Auxiliary To Entertain County Council on May 6th

One of the principal items of business at the meeting of the VFW Auxiliary, held last evening in the post rooms and conducted by President Zella Wood, was the making of plans for entertaining the Northwestern Counties Council here on Sunday, May 6. Tentative plans call for an afternoon business session, followed by dinner in the evening.

After a class of five candidates had been initiated, members voted to hold a rummage sale in the Beckley building on May 4-5 and heard a report from the games chairman that 200 pounds of candy have been sent to service men and women of the county in the post month.

The group presented a gift to the games chairman, Rita Gougler, who is leaving to enter the Women's Army Corps as a "Blue

LET'S ALL SUPPORT THE PAPER HOLIDAY

DURING APRIL AND MAY

TO CONSERVE PAPER

Our fighting men must have over 700,000 different war items made or wrapped with paper - supply parachutes, helmet linings, ration and blood plasma containers - even shell cases and bomb bands are paper! But paper is a No. 1 critical war material shortage!

Do your part in Pennsylvania's Paper Holiday. Carry your packages unwrapped - it's patriotic. Bring your own shopping bag or market basket. Merchants will use no bags or wrapping paper except where necessary for sanitary or protective purposes.

No matter what happens in Europe, the need for waste paper this year will be greater than last. Every person in Pennsylvania must help to save paper. Here's a good rule: use paper only where you must!

From time to time Pennsylvania's paper mills have been forced to shut down for lack of waste paper, piling up war orders for our fighting men. These essential war needs come first - paper mills cannot produce for civilians until our boys have been supplied.

That's why you must meet your quota - 13½ pounds of paper per month from every person in the State! That isn't much to ask - it's only a pile of newspapers less than a foot high!

MUST MEET NEED FOR FATS IN U.S. WFA HEAD SAYS

Marvin Jones Declares Kitchen Sal-Industrial and Civilian Production

"American women ; in I their kitchens and on the farm are making a vitally important contribution to our wartime economy by salvaging and turning in used fats", says Marvin Jones, War Food Administra-

"An adequate supply of fats and oils is essential to successful prosecution of the war. We must meet the necessary requirements of our military, industrial, and civilian production goals". Mr. Jones declared.

"Japanese seizure of Pacific areas from which the United States formerly imported large quantities of fats and oils required us to ask American farmers and American homemakers to replace these losses by increased production and through the salvaging of used household fats. Both have responded magnificently and deserve the thanks of their Government.

"Military demands have recently been greatly increased. It will be necessary in 1945 to salvage at least 100 million pounds more used fat than were recovered in 1944. To accomplish this, I ask every individual for the fullest cooperation in this important task. Every ounce of used fat that can be salvaged is urgently "American women," and the meat dealers who have loyally provided collection points for used fats during the past 21/2 years, have made a major contribution," & Mr. & Jones & stated. "Your help is needed now more than ever before."

President Harry S. Truman proclaimed today that tomorrow should be a day of mourning for Franklin D. Roosevelt throughout the United States. His proclamation, issued at the state department, formally announced the late president's death. "But though his voice is silent," the new chief executive said, "his courage is not spent, his faith is not extinguished.' The courage of great men outlives them to become the courage of their people and the peoples of the world. It lives eyond them and upholds their purposes and brings their hopes to pass." Mr. Truman recommended that the people of this country assemble tomorrow "in their respective places of divine worship, there to bow down in submission to the will of almighty god, and to pay out of full hearts their homage of love and reverence to the memory of the great and good man whose death they mourn."

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT

"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

For the third time in the country's long search for peace-for the second time with tremendous world effect-a great American leader has been stricken in the very critical time of all his efforts.

We know now that had Woodrow Wilson retained his health, and Abraham Lincoln his life, and had they been able to outweigh their opponents, the history of America and the world would have been far different.

Only with the passing of time will we know the effect of Franklin Roosevelt's death at the same Warm Springs where he once regained full use of the life which was to have such a terrific impact on people

While President Roosevelt had been even more the commander-in-chief than other war presidents, and while his personal consultations with our allies on military affairs had been all-important, there is consolation on this point. The war with Germany is all but over. Plans for the completion of the war against Japan are so far advanced as to make the need for large-scale revision very unlikely. The fitting or non-fitting of Russia into the Japanese campaign is the only remaining military imponderable. And either way, the effect in that quarter will be principally on the time and strength required for victory, rather than in the disposition of British and American forces.

Like Wilson and Lincoln, Franklin Roosevelt had passed his war crisis. The crisis he faced was peace. Not only victory over present armed enemies, but over the issues which make wars, was the goal he had pursued from the beginning. He did it with all the power and hope of the United States behind him, and even his bitterest political opponents seldom felt competent to go to the mat with him on his international intentions. But his very personality meant that his relations with Joseph Stalin, Winston Churchill and other world leaders-yes, with Charles De Gaulle-took on a peculiarly personal color. Perhaps, dealing with such personalities, there could have been no other successful relationship. But it leaves us wondering as to the future, knowing that we have lost a leader who had been strangely sensitive to and moulded by 12 years of international crises, both military and economic.

ONLY A FOOT FROM TROUBLE

To conserve the fast disappearing supply of passenger cars and to reduce accidents, police and sheriffs throughout the United States and law enforcement agencies of Canada are conducting a brake-check program from April 15 to June 1.

Since brakes, good or bad, come into play in nearly all traffic accidents, police believe the program will materially reduce losses of cars, lives and limbs. Careless maintenance and bad brakes are major factors in the scrapping of passenger cars, now proceeding at the alarming rate of 4,000 vehicles per day.

The brake-check program is sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The Erie Times is 57 years of age, having celebrated its birthday yesterday. The Times is one of the outstanding publications in this section and is ably edited and a power in its community. An interesting sidelight is that Joseph Kelly, who conducted the old Warren Paragraph, went to Erie and with John Mead and two others founded the Times. Mr. Mead finally took over all of the interests of the others and the paper today is conducted by members of the Mead family.

With flags at half-mast, business houses and offices closed, and plans for memorial services under way, Warren, with other communities in the nation and people throughout the world, joins in the sorrow and despair that is felt everywhere over the passing of the great Commander-in-Chief. This week there is a greater incentive than ever before to attend your church Sunday.

If you want points to go down on canned vegetables, simply grow all you need in your own garden.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

If those ordinances depart from before me, saith the Lord, then the seed of Israel also shall cease from being a nation before me for ever .- Jeremiah 31:36.

Just laws are no restraint upon the freedom of the good, for the good man desires nothing which a just law will interfere with,

LET'S ALL SUPPORT THE PAPER HOLIDAY

TO CONSERVE PAPER

Our fighting men must have over 700,000 different war items made or wrapped with paper - supply parachutes, helmet linings, ration and blood plasma containers - even shell cases and bomb bands are paper! But paper is a No. 1 critical war material shortage!

Do your part in Pennsylvania's Paper Holiday. Carry your packages unwrapped - it's patriotic. Bring your own shopping bag or market basket. Merchants will use no bags or wrapping paper except where necessary for sanitary or protective purposes.

No matter what happens in Europe, the need for waste paper this year will be greater than last. Every person in Pennsylvania must help to save paper. Here's a good rule: use paper only where you must!

TO SALVAGE PAPER

From time to time Pennsylvania's paper mills have been forced to shut down for lack of waste paper, piling up war orders for our fighting men. These essential war needs come first - paper mills cannot produce for civilians until our boys have been supplied.

That's why you must meet your quota - 131/2 pounds of paper per month from every person in the State! That isn't much to ask - it's only a pile
